

Gunda Gamble
Veterinarian
G Bar G Veterinary Service
Riverton, Wyoming

Biography: Gunda Gamble DVM is a veterinarian in Riverton, Wyoming where she and her husband work on all species of animals with an endless array of illnesses and injuries. Growing up in South Carolina and Germany, Gunda took a special interest in life sciences, including biology and chemistry. She particularly liked to observe animal behavior and developed a deep appreciation of animals. In 1995, she graduated from veterinary school in Giessen, Germany.

The Gambles have two daughters in college. Dr. Gamble likes to see children take an interest in animals, because they can learn a lot from them. When the Gambles aren't working on animals, they like to ride horses in the mountains, fish, hunt, and travel.

Break-out Session: First-Aid for Your Trail Buddy - Dogs love to go hiking with their family on the trail, but what if something happens? What if a dog cuts itself on glass? What if it is bitten by a rattlesnake? What if it suffers from a heat stroke? Recognize symptoms on a live dog and learn how to perform simple first-aid procedures.

Then, if you can stomach it, necropsy a deceased animal and learn how the organs work together.
