

Dr. Caitlin Blackburn
Veterinarian
The Stock Doc
Riverton, Wyoming

Biography: Dr. Caitlin Blackburn is a veterinarian who practices in Riverton, Wyoming at The Stock Doc. She loves seeing any species that walks in, and loves medicine and surgery. She was born and raised in Cody, Wyoming and went to University of Wyoming for Pre-Veterinary Sciences. She graduated from Washington State College of Veterinary Medicine in 2013. Her grandmother was also a veterinarian and was the only woman in her class in 1956.

When she is not helping animals and their people, she and her husband enjoy taking their pack of dogs to the mountains, "jeeping" on back roads, and cross-country skiing.

Workshop: Veterinary Super Powers: X-Ray Vision - Explore the ways veterinarians use medical imaging to diagnose and treat animals. Check out some x-rays and give your diagnosis - what did this animal eat? Try your hand at ultrasound and see if you can "diagnose a pregnancy." Use the microscope to check out parasites and cells. See if your video game skills translate to endoscope and retrieve an object from "a stomach." Students will get to try out several medical imaging technologies on fun simulations (no blood and guts involved).
